

Welcome!

- Have a seat anywhere!
- Please place your belongings underneath your desk.

Welcome to Ms. Swanson's
English class!

American Literature &
Composition B.
Spring 2015

Today's agenda:

- Syllabus
- Website
- <http://serverenglish.weebly.com>
- Write a letter to me stating your academic goals for this semester.

R-E-S-P-E-C-T!

- Respect others.
- Respect yourself.
- Respect the property.

Classroom Expectations

The 4 P's.

Be PROMPT: (arriving before the bell quiet and SEATED or you are tardy) You may not exempt the final if you are tardy. After the third tardy, you will receive a detention.*

Be PREPARED: (completed homework, materials, and books)

Be POLITE: (Raising hands, not interrupting one another, avoid negative/hurtful comments)

Be PRODUCTIVE: (Participating, staying on task, working hard)

BYOT: Technology: Don't abuse it or lose it.

New-ish rule:

No technology in hallways--just lunch room & at teacher's discretion

Other new rules

- Purses must be pocket-sized (not big enough to carry any books)
- no backpacks in classrooms

Warnings will be given first and then followed by disciplinary action (detention then referral)*

OBJECTIVES:

American Literature will approach the study of American literature through:

reading + writing + listening + speaking + viewing +

-critical thinking

-better student = better citizen

-dreamer = world changer

OBJECTIVES:

The student will:
read various texts, such as fiction, non-fiction, poetry, and drama, for various purposes.

OBJECTIVES:

- employ a variety of writing genres
- understand and acquire new vocabulary
- understand literary works by relating them to their contemporary context or historical background

OBJECTIVES:

- use research and technology to support writing
- participate in group and individual activities

Grading

- Classwork/Homework: 10%
- Quizzes: 20% *Expect pop quizzes.
- Tests/Projects: 30%
- Research: 20% for juniors (increase from last year)
- Final Exam: 20%

What's different for juniors?

- Colleges are looking at you now!
- SAT/ACT/EOC practice testing
- Heavy writing course: Expect more timed writes this semester.

No Shakespeare this year!

What is Plagiarism? What is cheating?

[Refer to your syllabus]

PROCEDURES:

- All work should be completed in BLUE or BLACK ink or pencil.
- Late work is a nuisance. Turn in your work on time.
Note: You will receive only up to 50% credit if you turn in an assignment one day late. However, if we go over the assignment's answers in class, you may not turn it in.

Listen Carefully. . .

The exception to this is with your major essays, projects, and research papers, in which there will be a ten point deduction per day these are late.*

MORE PROCEDURES:

- HOMEWORK needs to be turned in at the beginning of class.
- Trash needs to be thrown away at the beginning or end of class.
- If you have a cold, grab some tissue before class.
- If you have an unsharpened pencil, think ahead and sharpen it before the bell rings.

Basically, stay seated unless you have permission otherwise to get up.

Tardiness is lame. Be responsible.

•NOTE: IF YOU ARE NOT IN YOUR SEAT WHEN THE BELL RINGS, YOU ARE TARDY.

PERIOD.

“Who cares if I’m tardy?”

Answer: You do.

If you are tardy even one time, you eliminate your ability to exempt a final exam based on attendance.

1. warning
2. teacher detention (20 mins)
3. teacher detention (30 mins)
4. office referral

Absences: excused vs. unexcused

- Excused-What are excused absences?
- If excused, you have FIVE days to make up the work.
- This takes place AFTER school, not in class.
- If you fail to bring an admission slip within THREE days or fail to make up the work in the designated FIVE days, you will receive a zero (0).

Unexcused absences. . .

- What is an unexcused absence?
- You do not get to make up the work, and the work you miss counts as a zero (0) in the gradebook.
- Don't skip school! Only miss when it's absolutely necessary, because your grade:attendance depends on it!

You're not in middle school anymore. . .

- Whose responsibility is it to make arrangements for any make up tests or work?

*Note:

- If you are absent from class due to a sports-related activity, your assignments will be due the next day you return to class. If you miss a test due to a sports-related activity or to an excused absence and knew about the test prior to your absence, you will be required to make the test up the following day you return to school unless you have made prior arrangements with me.

The ball is in your court!

- Again, all make-up work is YOUR responsibility!
- I will not remember between 125 kids who missed what day, and your grade and success depends on it!
- Practice ownership!

Field trip?

- If you are absent due to a field trip, the assignment(s) will still be due by the assigned deadline. There will be no exceptions. However, you may turn in your work the day before your trip.
- Plan ahead! This is YOUR responsibility!

Now for good ol' class rules:

- Be on time (Which “P” is that?)
- Stay seated the entire period unless directed to do otherwise.
- You will be allowed two emergency hall passes per semester. [If you have a medical problem, you must have a documented note stating the issue and how I can best accommodate you.]
- Be prepared.

Pet Peeves

- Keep your negative thoughts to yourself. You bring down everyone if and when you complain.
- You forgot it? You bought it. Failure to bring a writing utensil will cost you a dollar—yes, a whole dollar or a teacher detention.
- tardiness
- My property is exactly that—mine.
- Refrain from talking over one another; everyone has a worthy voice and opinion to share.

A toddler's favorite word:

NO:

- Abusing technology privileges
- Putting on make-up
- Eating/drinking (besides water)
- Deliberately distracting others
- getting out of your seat

Extra Help!

- I am here to help you, and I am happy to do it!
- That means if you need to make up an assignment, get extra tutoring, or God-forbid, serve a detention, you MUST make it up before school.
- Teachers have lives too, so your best bet is to make plans with me before coming in to see me! :)

What will we be studying?

Georgia Common Core Standards:

- Thematic-based approach
- Still chronological. . .
- Focus on the literary periods.

What does a day in the life of American Literature look like?

- Warm up/Bell Ringer:
 - Vocabulary
 - DOL sentence
- SAT/EOCT question
- Writing concept (mini-lesson)
- Literature (fiction and nonfiction) /Writing
- CCGPS Standards
- Ticket out the door/Homework

Class website!

- My goal is to update it weekly if not more so!

Homework:

- The syllabus will be due Tuesday, 1/13.

Overview of American Lit for this semester. . .

Goals Letter: Name, date, period, name of English teacher from last semester if it wasn't me.

Questions:

In a one page letter, answer the following questions.

-Write a letter to me stating your goals for this semester. Reevaluate where you are this semester. Focus particularly on this class, but you may also tie in some generic goals as well.

1) Did you accomplish your goals from last semester?

2)What did you do well last semester?

3) What do you plan to improve, and how do you plan to accomplish it?

Requirements:

- No skipping lines
- You are allowed to use only one linking verb (is, are, am, were, was, be, been etc.)
- Use at least three semicolons in your letter; this provides more variety stylistically- speaking. Anywhere you can put a period, you can use a semicolon instead. The best time to use a semicolon is when you combine similar ideas.
